1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-16 and 21, drawn to a biocompatible photonic crystal comprising a structure of a plurality of biocompatible materials, classified in class 426, subclass 103 or candy product 426/660.
 - II. Claim 22, drawn to a coating process, classified in class 427, subclass 401+.
 - III. Claims 17-20, drawn to a laminated substrate, classified in class 428, subclass 411+. Claim 19 if used in UV hair composition 424/70.9 or topical 424/600+.
 - IV. Claims 23-25, drawn to a method of coloring food, classified in class 426, subclass 250.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I through IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions. Invention I which includes photonic crystal which are biocompatible and digestible or metabolizable as well as the claim 21 drawn to the candy is unrelated to the photonic crystal substrate or dielectric film used as heat shield, UV protectant, reflector, radiative barrier each of these substrates have different utility and can be used separably and are unrelated. One of ordinary skill in the art would not look in the candy art in order to search for a radiative barrier, UV protectant or heat shield. With respect to Group I and Group II the method of coating the substrate, the method of coating the substrate is not related to the preparation of a candy or changing the color of a food; the photonic crystal substrate can be used in changing the color of food and it is not limited only to candy. Further to search for a biocompatible material, which is edible comprising an alternating layer of starch or polymers with titanium dioxide, would be a different invention as well as a different search than a candy composition. The searches as well as the inventions are unrelated because the inventions have different modes of operation and different effects.

Art Unit: 1761

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for any one group is not required for the other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Mr. Connors on May 8, 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
